I am writing on behalf of David Davies to respond to your information request:

Parks artefacts are attached - values are not held neither are the artists names.

List of the civic collection is attached.

The only item that has been acquired since 2010 is M118 – The Head and Shoulders portrait of HM The Queen, which is currently hanging in the Mayor's Parlour. This portrait was donated to the Council by the artist.

The museum is an accredited Museum with professional curatorial standards and policies in place.

Museum Figures 2010-Present (August 2014)

We have about 9600 objects in the Museum Collection

Since the beginning of 2010 we have catalogued 1405 objects into our collection:

126 Archaeological deposits - this number will increase over time as each find within those deposits is catalogued.
570 gifts – given by individual donors and organisations
175 purchases – small purchases; one large purchase in 2011 made jointly with a grant and other organisations
494 transfers - objects transferred from another museum to our collection.
40 untraced finds – objects already in the museum collection for many years that, for whatever reason, had not been catalogued.

No museum objects have been sold or disposed of.

2 recent art commissions will be added to the collection which were created as part of an HLF project
